SimpleX

A Gamified Trading Experience Built on Real Trading Infrastructure

SimpleX transforms traditional trading into a more accessible and intuitive experience by replacing complex position sizing with investment-based trading logic.

Instead of manually calculating lot sizes, margin requirements, and pip values, traders simply choose how much they want to invest: while the platform automatically calculates trade size, exposure, risk, and potential payout.

Built on the same infrastructure as traditional trading platforms, SimpleX keeps the familiar trading environment while making trading easier to understand for less experienced users.

Instead of manually choosing position sizes and calculating exposure, traders simply select the amount they want to invest, while the platform automatically calculates trade size, pip value, and risk exposure.

> The result is a more intuitive trading experience designed for users who want to trade without dealing with complex trading calculations.
